In the matter of

Low Power FM

Comments of Bruce Quinn

MM Docket 99-25, FCC 05 75

We must not forget that low power FM was created so that new voices not just the wealthy would have access to radio in our country. All commercial FM owners are in fact very rich. Their licenses are worth millions of dollars and can be turned into fast cash.

Low power broadcasters are not wealthy. They are Americans who love radio and they serve their communities for that love and not the love of a buck.

We must now protect the little guy from the big guy.

1. LPFM must be reclassified and given the same rights as the Big Boy broadcasters.
2. LPFM stations serve their communities. They should be protected in Allocations. They should not have to move or go off the air for some wealthy broadcaster.
3. LPFM broadcasters should have the same right to upgrade their station class and make upgrades, as the big boys.
4. LPFM is noncommercial. Let's keep it that way.
5. LPFM stations licenses should be able to be reassigned to other not for profit groups or educational institutions.

Very truly
